First, cause it took too much money, and secway, because it did not appeal to the sense and mind of a person to make a single vote (sour grapes). He said that as the Demoparty was in the minority, they did Pat Healy interrupted him a minority; another suggested that it was the state of Kanaas that he referred to.

McCoy said that whether they were in the minority or not they did not get any offices. That he for one wanted missionary work. Geo. Espalten said he was in favor of a marching club, and that, if they had a memership of two hundred and forty, that the club could have one to knock the socks off of any Republican club. McCoy said that he was discouraged over the prospect here, and that a marching club would be an additional burden. Pat Healey said that the finances were a deplorable condition and that he was disheartened over financial matters. That money was "hard to get" for he had tried and could not get any.

Mr. Toler thought that the gentlemen were throwing cold water over the thing. Mr. Dale said he wanted to march and
